FATALLY BURNED IN BRUSH FIRE

Little James Hughes Hovering Between Life and Death

In the few moments that his mother's attention was diverted from him while at play, James Hughes, the year-and-a-half-old son of Mr. and Mrs. Melvin Hughes, was seriously burned in a brush fire yesterday morning at the Hughes home on South First avenue. Dr. H. A. Duncan, the physician in charge, holds out little hope of saving the child's left hand while his right foot is also causing severe pain and necessitated his being placed under opiates throughout the day. The youngster was romping with his dog in the yard when he fell into the blaze and in his frenzy caught the burning mass in his tiny hands, shrieking in agony until his mother rushed to the scene and rescued him. This little lad is a loveable chap and his parents and grandfather, J. W. Graham, are being kept busy answering queries in regard to his condition.

POSTAL EMPLOYEES ARE FROM ALL OVER U. S. A.

Twenty-two States Represented in Gathering at C. B. Wood's House

A wide representation of states is to be found among the clerk-carrier force at the Phoenix postoffice. This was proven yesterday, when a list of those present at Postmaster Wood's little party the night before, was compiled. Among his hundred guests, were men from twenty-two states two foreign countries, and the district that surrounds the national capital.

Ohio led the other subdivisions in supplying Phoenix with postal attaches, eighteen registering from that state.

The list is as follows:
Washington, D. C. 1
Arizona 10
Pennsylvania 10
New Jersey 6
Ohio 18
Indiana 8
Virginia 2
Kentucky 1
Tennessee 3
North Carolina 1
Georgia 2
Wisconsin 2
Minnesota 2
Iowa 1
Missouri 12
Arkansas 4
Kansas 1
Nebraska 1
Colorado 1
New Mexico 1
California 2
Washington 2

Germany and Ireland, each one. The party was given on the lawn of the Wood home, 716 East Polk. Following refreshments, there was a musical program. Carl Lindstrom, and his brother, the former with violin and the latter accompanying him, were decided hits in instrumental selections. A quartet, composed of Paul Armour, Arthur Baus, Ernest Anderson and Thomas Smith, rendered several well appreciated popular songs.

Paul Armour, Mrs. Lee Callahan rendered vocal solos and Mrs. Luther Stewart gave a piano solo.

AMUSEMENTS

The Empress
Did they like the Metro feature at the Empress last night? Well, I think they did and you would if you had been there. Max Figgman and Lois Meredith in a comedy drama, a picture of the play, "My Best Girl," by Channing Pollock and Renold Wolf, are surely a treat that you should not miss. It is one of the kind that will give you something to drive away the blues. Nothing has caused so many laughs except "Charlie Chaplin" as the comedy "Education," featuring Wallace Beery. Those who have not been Metro-ed should be on hand tonight as that will be the last time this program will be shown.

But other big things are coming. "The Rosary," the seven-reel Seal film released through the V-L-S-E is proving so popular that the Selig Polyscope company has been forced to make many extra prints of the production. Manager Irwin of the central V-L-S-E office had calls for extra prints from certain branch managers and wired other branches to see if they could spare enough to fill the want. The reply in every case was that the branch was itself short on "Rosary" prints and could make use of several more. Mr. Irwin then took up the matter with the Selig company and they began immediately turning out new prints. All over the country "The Rosary" is proving one of the biggest successes in recent years. Because of its beautiful theme and the artistic manner in which it is developed it appeals to all classes. It could only be secured for the Empress two days, Sunday and Monday. Remember the dates.

Laughable Comedy at Lion
A man held in the air by a stream of water thrown by firemen is the unusual scene and very laughable feature in "When Ambrose Dares Walrus," a two-reel comedy shown for the last time today. This picture is a regular scream and contains many situations that create all kinds of humor. "The Diamond from the Sky" is also shown today, as well as Vivian Rich and Harry von Meter in a splendid "After the Storm." Joe Singleton and Betty March have the leading roles in the Reliance drama "The Lie," which is the story of a shipwrecked man who returns home to find his wife married to another. This picture contains some beautiful ocean scenes and is well produced.

Tomorrow the Lion shows a Thos. Ince production entitled "The Sea Ghost," in which the English actor, Arthur Maude, plays the leading part.

Irvin Cobb in "The Arab" at the Arizona
Though his name does not appear on any cast of characters, the world famous humorist and war correspondent, Irvin Cobb, plays a small part in the Lasky photodramatization of "The Arab," with Edgar Selwyn as the star. He appears as an American tourist who has employed as a dragoman the young Sheikh Jamil (played by Mr. Selwyn) and is shown giving Jamil for his services and supplying him with a recommendation. This recommendation, written by Cobb himself, is as follows:

"To Whom It May Concern: This is to certify that the bearer, Jamil Abdullah Azam, is the finest little bar in a country of bars. We earnestly recommend him to those who, like ourselves, enjoy being bunked and desire nothing more of this country than that which fills the eye."

Jamil takes great pride in exhibiting this paper to the Christian girl

WAS TRAINLOAD NOT CARLOAD

Santa Fe Shipping Whole Trainloads of Fat Cattle to Coast While The Republican Announces It Was Only Carloads

For nearly a week The Republican has been trying vainly to have the Santa Fe railroad ship out trainloads of cattle to the coast. Twice within the week announcement has been made in these columns that "carloads" of fat cattle for the market in Los Angeles have gone out over the Santa Fe on a twenty hour schedule. Now The Republican told the truth in so far as the "carloads" part, but failed to say that there were more than one carload in each instance.

As a matter of fact, had the word "trainload" been used instead of "carload" the real importance of these shipments would have been conveyed. It is so unusual for entire special trains to be devoted to the shipment of any one commodity out of the valley that in greater than carload lots, the reporter slipped up and stuck to form. Hence "carloads" when "trainloads" was the word.

General Agent W. S. Goldworthy of the Santa Fe announced yesterday following the publication of another story concerning a "carload" of cattle, that he was certain The Republican, or at least one of its reporters, was conniving against his railroad, else why the error twice. And then he began thinking way back and pinching himself to see if he was awake and if it was really true, that "trainloads" of cattle were being sent out on two different occasions within one week. There was the evidence and again he thought of The Republican in anything but kindly terms.

Now here is the truth of it. John Norton last Wednesday sent a "trainload" (several carloads, all hitched together, drawn by one engine and running on a schedule specially arranged and all its own) to Los Angeles. This "trainload" comprised some of the forty-two special beef cattle to be found in the Salt River valley. Twenty hours were occupied in placing it in Los Angeles. On Tuesday, day before yesterday, another "trainload" of the same class of cattle were shipped by Mr. Norton. This "trainload" reached Parker in the phenomenal time of six hours and Los Angeles inside of the time set for it.

And what is more to the point these first two "trainloads" are but the first of a series the Santa Fe expects to handle to the coast and has established a twenty-hour schedule in anticipation of this service.

CONVENTION NEWS TO BE IN THE BILLBOARD

Notices of conventions and meetings of local importance will be carried hereafter in the Billboard, a well-known magazine of the theatrical world.

A request was received from the editorial department of the publication yesterday by the chamber of commerce for information regarding such conventions and meetings. The publication is organizing a department of intelligence relating to all conventions.

with whom he falls in love as evidence of superlative virtues. "The Arab" will be shown at the Arizona tonight for the last time. Hazel Dawn in "Clarissa," tomorrow.

The Lamara
"The Moonstone," founded upon Wilkie Collins' famous novel of the same name, proved to be an exceptional picture when shown at the Lamara theater yesterday. The photography is splendid throughout the entire five reels and many startling effects are shown. Especially good is the work of Eugene O'Brien when he walks in his sleep upon the occasion of his stealing the gem from his fiancée after having given it to her as an engagement present. Elaine Hammerstein proved to be a very beautiful girl with great histrionic talent. The picture will be shown again today.

Tomorrow it will be followed by the recent Universal Broadway feature release, "Jewel," in which Etta Hall, the heroine of "The Master Key," is the leading character. The picture is the result of the joint efforts of the Smalley, Lois Weber and Phillips and is said to be one of the best things they have ever produced.

At the Coliseum
Large crowds overflowed the Coliseum last night to see the new show and every one says the circus queer is one of the most amusing little shows they ever have had the pleasure of seeing. Hap Jess Button and Lee Morrison as Bud and Henry keep the fun ball rolling and the works hard to make the show a winner. Mal Wheeler has a fat part as a rube in this show and hands the audience a great many laughs. His ballad is winning him much applause. Lee Harrison singing "Ballin' the Jack," was called back several times. "Dixie Land" was sung by Nellie Harrison, and she was also called back many times. Hap Jess Button sang a funny coon song entitled "If You're Goin' to Play Pool You with that Fifteen Ball." He handled it nicely and it went over with a bang. Swor and Green in songs, styles and smyles was the hit of the show.
